A spherical pendant lamp made to resemble leaves on a tree.

Made from brass, the leaves are created using with same lost wax casting techniques that were used by sculptor's thousands of years ago.

The detail natural appearance of the leafs are near perfection, effectively these are small sculptures with real dynamism and realism.

The sphere hangs from the ceiling via steel cables and the canopy is also finished with decorative leaves.

Inside the sphere is a smaller diameter brass ball which serves to support the brass lamp holders.

Illuminated from the inside, the shadows created by the LED lamps enhances the leaves and fine detail of this hand made piece.
